This Year's Carnival Promises To Be Best

Completion of booth plans and preparation of publicity for the 1953 Spring Carnival are on the agenda for today's Interclub Council meeting. Arrangements for the gala six-hour evening on April 18 have been moving rapidly and smoothly, reports Lutz Muenster, Interclub Council president. Almost 20 games and booths will be in action from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. in the mid-April event. Dancing will take the spotlight until 1 a.m., with the music of Wayne Walker and his sixpiece dance band.

The first Spring Carnival was initiated by the Hartnell College Men's Club on April 29, 1949, under the advisiorship of Mr. Richard Carlisle. The event combined the efforts of almost all Hartnell College organizations, and a large crowd responded.

Radio Station KSBW broadcast the event by sending a roving reporter to cover the carnival. As a result of the success of the first carnival it was made an annual affair.

Events approved by Interclub Council, and sponsors for this year's event, are as follows: wishing well and ice cream booth, Alpha Gamma Sigma; wet sponge throw, freshman class; fortune teller and handwriting analysis, student commission; caricatures and water colors, Alpha Delta Epsilon; french-fried potatoes, Young Farmers; telegram service, Women's Athletic Association; cascaronis (confetti in egg shells), Associated Women Students; lariat throw, International Club; balloon shave, Westminster Club; soft drinks, Newman Club; dart throw, Alumni Association; basketball throw—Block "H"; beetle race, Delta Psi Omega; dart throw (at M.P.C. catalogues), Panther Sentinel; sale of pineapples and leis, Hawaiian Club; and miniature golf, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship.

Committee chairmen for the carnival include Jan Walker, publicity; Ken Van Cleave, booth construction; Wallace Lowry, dance decorations; Joyce Blasdel, music publicity; Shirley Sherman, posters; Herb Jaenicke, contacting outside clubs; Ramona Eris, dance band; Emil Yappert, tickets and prizes.

As has been the custom in the past, profits of the carnival will go to the student union fund. Co-operation from all clubs is excellent, with student commission and International Club committed to donate 100 per cent of their profits, and all other clubs, 75 per cent.

Recent Assembly Receives Praise

The National Assemblies of Los Angeles sent to Hartnell Bob Bradford, a versatile impersonator, with his animated friend, "Jiggers Johnson," for the scheduled assembly two weeks ago.

The entire program was hilarious with the imitations, impersonations, singing, and a variety of other demonstrations without apparent lip movement. The lip movement was unnoticeable on the part of Bob, but was noticeable from his companion, "Jiggers," who seemed actually to be alive with Bob's ventriloquism. "Jiggers," who is only a lifeless dummy, appeared to be talking, yodeling, singing, and exemplifying all the apparent extroversion expected of a topflight entertainer.

Lowry to Head Sophomore Show

Plans for the Annual Sophomore Show were formulated last Monday when the sophomore class gathered in the Little Theater. Class President Emil Yappert opened the meeting and appointed Wallace Lowry as co-ordinator of the annual affair. A committee was formed to plan and direct the show.

Freshman are also requested to participate in the annual show. Anyone who is interested in participating may contact either Emil Yappert or Wallace Lowry or sign your name on the sign-up slip on the main bulletin board. Furthermore, all interested performers are urged to contact Yappert or Lowry as soon as possible so definite plans may be made at an early date.

Students are reminded that, due to the annual East vacation, there will be no classes held next week. Classes will be resumed on Monday, April 6. Because of the vacation, there will be no Panther Sentinel published next week, and the next edition will be out on Friday, April 10.

Dick Johnson And Ken Van Cleave To Be Chairmen

Ken Van Cleave and Dick Johnson have been chosen as chairmen for two of the ten workshops of the C.J.C.S.G.A. conference to be held April 9, 10, and 11 at Asilomar. The announcement was made Monday by Art Larson, president of California Junior College Student Government Association and College of Sequoia's student body.

Both Van Cleave and Johnson have also been chosen as the voting delegates from Hartnell with Wallace Lowry to serve as alternate. Van Cleave will lead the student government and committees workshop, and Johnson will lead the publications and public relations workshop. Both led similar workshops at the recent N.S.C.J.C.S.G.A. conference, at which the northern section of the association prepared its portion of the agenda, and were judged as the best prospects for the coveted jobs at the state meeting. Other workshop chairmen represent colleges from the northern, central, and southern sections of the junior college government association, but it is seldom that two chairmen are chosen from one school.

Approximately forty schools will send delegations to the Asilomar affair. The total delegation from Hartnell includes Randy Blair, Karol Klauer, Linda Lawrence, Lowry, Van Cleave, and Johnson. Representatives, especially voting delegates, are selected by the student commission on the basis of the abilities shown during the year.

Attendance Poor At Frosh Dance

The St. Patrick's Day dance put on by the Freshman class, Saturday, March 14, at the Recreation Center, was very poorly represented by the Hartnell student body. Although the committees went to a great deal of work to make the dance a success, the attendance was practically nil.

Typical Dogpatch Attire Is Today's Latest Style

Fun began at 8 o'clock today, when all Hartnell students came to school dressed in the appropriate Dogpatch fashion, i.e., gunnysacks, tied with rope, or sweat shirts and sawed-off jeans, coonskin caps, granny's pipe, or any ol' rag that could be found.

Classes will be held all day but at 1 o'clock there will be an assembly designed solely for enjoyment. Entertainers from Watsonville and Hartnell are scheduled to provide the show.

Sadie's Day Originated This Way

To day, it was noticed that many questions were being asked about the origin of Sadie Hawkins' Day. Well, the day was named obviously in honor of Sadie Hawkins (Hartnell alumna, 1921). Sadie lived on the outskirts of Dogpatch, somewhere between Salinas, the Pacific Ocean, and Greenfield. Sadie was an average girl but unfortunately, lacked some innate quality of being able to snag a man. Upon interview, Mrs. Hawkins (her maiden name was the same also) was asked just why she wasn't able to find a mate. It was learned that her humble family couldn't afford bathing facilities and also possessed the quality of being homely. "I didn't let sech a little thing bother me," stated the illustrious Mrs. Hawkins.

The historic day has been a carry-over from the good old days and finally has been declared a holiday at Hartnell.

Sadie was quoted by saying that: "Us gals had a hard time catching a man many years ago with jest greased bear traps and 12-gauge shotguns, but now all them lucky girls at Hartnell have it real easy with all them newfangled inventions like radar and guided missiles."

Sadie warned, however, that much preparation was needed and the girls should have started getting ready before today.

The men were not left entirely in the cold as Mr. Sam Hawkins was interviewed also. He was asked what he thought of the gala affair, and commented, "Taint fair."

Sadie expressed her regrets for not attending the annual chase, but said, "I'm a-rootin' for all ye gals."

Latest word from the local draft board reads: "When a student passes his physical and wishes to be deferred he must personally write a letter requesting his deferment and have it mailed in by the college with Form 242." Remember, you, the student, must take the initiative in asking for deferment.

The fun began at 8 o'clock today, when all Hartnell students came to school dressed in the appropriate Dogpatch fashion, i.e., gunnysacks, tied with rope, or sweat shirts and sawed-off jeans, coonskin caps, granny's pipe, or any ol' rag that could be found.

Classes will be held all day, but at 11 o'clock there will be an assembly designed solely for enjoyment. Entertainers from Watsonville and Hartnell are scheduled to provide the show.

Following the assembly will be the chase. During this race any woman who hasn't already caught her man will have her last opportunity to do so before the dance at night.

The climax of the day will be a VERY informal dance at 9 o'clock in the Men's Gym. Each woman, escorting her man into the dance, will be greeted at the door with a free corsage to pin on her date. The Ambassadors will be playing; pictures will be taken; kickapoo juice and slobberian delight (apple cider and gingerbread) will be served. The king and queen of Dogpatch will be chosen upon the consideration of the most carefully copied Dogpatch fashion.

Of course, the girls will pay. Admission is $1.25 for couples and 75 cents for stags.

La Reata of 1953 Almost Complete

All La Reata pictures are scheduled to be due on March 30, it was announced at the beginning of this month by Editors Rudy Sun and Pete Holm.

The yearbook staff includes the following photographers: William Chinn, Pete Holm, Rudy Sun, and Bill McCabe. The photographers, at present, are superimposing the pictures this year which is the process whereby they use a general background for their pictures.

The various departments are handled this year by Emil Yappert, men's sports; Esther Williams, women's sports; Doris Simon, activities and organizations; William Chinn, sophomore and freshman pictures; and Betty Houston, faculty pictures.

This 1953 La Reata is being put together entirely by amateurs under the guidance of Mr. Stuart Dufour; and it is expected to be the very best ever published.

The EDITOR'S COMMENT

The Spring Carnival is nearly upon us as only two weeks of classes remain before the annual event.

We hope that every student realizes the value of his individual effort about the matter. Here is why. Lutz Muenster, chairman of the affair, expressed an idea or two within our range of hearing recently concerning a perennial problem which confronts the sponsoring Interclub Council each year. He said that a big difficulty regarding the carnival is to get those outside of the council to participate in its promotion. There is much opportunity to help, including working on an Interclub Council committee or helping out in the booths themselves for any one of twenty or so participating organizations.

The more of you who work the sooner our dreams of a student union materialize. Plan now to do your part!

Curiosity compelled us to examine our exchange files to see what, if anything, other colleges possess or lack that inspires editorial reflection. Examples of what we discovered were lack of funds, unclean cafeteria, unkempt student union, cluttered lawns, general apathy among students, and no knowledge of future events.

After a bit of contemplation, we decided that students of Hartnell are much better off than they probably realize. We don't have an enormous surplus of money lying around unused, but through wise distribution we have managed to keep rather safely in the black. We hear no complaints of an unsanitary cafeteria; ditto relative to a student union because we don't even HAVE one! Our lawns are rather well kept and uncluttered; Hartnell's student body is certainly not guilty of neglecting student affairs; and we know about the future comparatively well. (To aid you in becoming better informed, Panther Sentinel has begun the practice of printing a calendar of the ensuing week's events.)

Be that as it may, look in this space every Friday and see if our record is being maintained.

Alpha Gamma Wants White Elephants

Through the shining halls of Hartnell College, the mournful cry of the Alpha Gamma Sigma member is heard crying for rare and unusual things. These unusual items are known to the layman as "white elephants."

Each year the Alpha Gamma Sigma operates the wishing well in the annual Spring Carnival. In order to insure the promise of having gifts to contribute to the participants of the booth, the Alpha Gamma Sigma conducts an annual drive for these "white elephants." These "white elephants" may consist of almost anything, the tie that you got for Christmas but don't like, a child's top (something you may have outgrown by now), or anything which you feel you can contribute.

Alpha Gamma Sigma members are leading the way in this drive and request your co-operation.

Art Club Plans Trip, Cake Sale at Meeting

The Art Club met Tuesday noon March 17 to discuss plans for the coming Spring Carnival. President Jane Oka presided at the meeting at which the main plans for the carnival were made.

A tentative trip to San Francisco to see the forthcoming "Guys and Dolls" was also discussed. The club also made plans for a cake sale which was to be held Thursday, March 26.

Ramona, Claudia Go To Asilomar

Claudia Day and Ramona Eris represented Interclub Council and Commission, respectively, at the Student World Affairs Conference at Asilomar, March 20, 21, and 22.

The Hartnell coeds reported that the conference served to better acquaint foreign and American students with each other and with the World Service Fund. They also said that the meetings were very successful and did much to achieve their goal.

Newman Club's Chaplain Back

The recently ill Father Cummins is back again with the Hartnell College Newman Club after an illness of several weeks.

Father Cummins arrived in this country about five years ago and has been assigned to the Salinas Sacred Heart Church.

He was chaplain to the Hartnell

Alpha Gamma Sigma Aids Members

At a recent joint initiation and election of officers of Alpha Gamma Sigma, twenty-five more Hartnell students joined the ranks of the honorary scholastic society of the college.

Those members initiated were Helen Marie Allen, Robert Atkins, Mary Ann Baldwin, Barbara Balkow, Randall Blair, Charles Collins, Richard Eppley, Irwin Forbes, Peter Hyde, Simona Ikeda, Lorraine Jacop, Helen Jones, Angie Lavorato, Linda Lawrence, Gene Menees, Mary Migotti, Oleta Mustain, Rodney Pickles, Charles Pomeroy, Irene Pletcher, Darrell Rains, Virginia Randolph, Dolores Sanchez, and Mary Asano.

The election of officers resulted in the placing of Theresa Poor in the office of president; Helen Allen, vice-president; Angie Lavorato, secretary; and Richard Eppley, treasurer.

Hawaiian Club Back

The Hartnell Hawaiian Club held its first meeting this year on Thursday, February 26.

Tommy Lyons, one of the many Hawaiians now attending Hartnell, was in charge, and twenty-two members signed up to attend the meeting.

The Hawaiian Club was established in 1949; and for two years Jimmy Akimo was its active president. The club had 90 members at one time, 30 of whom were Hawaiian. Frankie Paz was president in the fall of 1951, and Benny Capanas took over his duties during the spring semester of 1952.

On the agenda of the initial meeting of the year was election of this year's officers: president, Tom Lyons; vice-president, Annabeth Bird; secretary, Barbara Balkow; treasurer, Babette Gianinni; and Interclub Council representative, Simona Ikeda.

Plans were discussed and a committee appointed, under the direction of Joyce Blasdel, for the club's Spring Carnival booth.

The members set their dues at 50 cents a semester and planned to have another meeting two weeks from that date.

Advisors of the Hawaiian Club in the past have been Miss Wiens, Mr. Aslanian, and Miss Perry. Mr. Eris is the advisor for the current year.

Newman Club until rheumatic fever struck him. He recovered in Mercy Hospital in Merced and took a short rest in Palm Springs. He has now returned to act as chaplain for the Newman Club.

Little Theatre For Student Body Meetings

The Little Theater was originally used for student body meetings, and there was no organized play production as it now exists until Mr. Hal Ulrici came as drama, stagecraft, and voice and diction instructor in 1948. When Mr. Ulrici came to Hartnell College he started making many construction improvements in the Little Theater such as an addition to the stage in the form of an apron, additional moveable screens, and the college's first dimmer system.

In September, 1948, the local chapter of Delta Psi Omega, a national acting fraternity, for the purpose of stimulating and encouraging better acting in the college, was established at Hartnell College. Mr. Ulrici started a program for five major play productions a year, the first of which was "Night Must Fall," by Emlyn Williams, presented in October, 1948.

The College Community Theater had its first production, "The Miser," March 13, 14, and 15, in the Little Theater. It was participated in by students from Hartnell and local inhabitants who wish to further the interests of drama in the community.

Budget For Next Year Being Made

Associated Student Body budgets for the year 1953-4 are now in preparation, announced Dave Lewis, commissioner of finance. The present budget committee of the Hartnell Associated Students is carrying out the necessary procedures for completion of this task.

Budget appropriations must be established for approximately 40 separate items. Appropriations are made according to estimates of funds needed, and income expected for the following year. The advisor or head of each activity or department makes up the estimate for his particular budget. The original budget for 1952-3 totaled $19,082.35. Increases which have been necessary during the year indicate that the budget now being compiled may reach $21,000.00.

Don't Let Spring Fever Catch You!

Now that spring is here, and with it the familiar urge to soak up the sun, be it on the beach or the Hartnell lawn, the problem of cutting classes begins to make itself felt. Spring seems to have no effect on whether classes shall be held; as always, they shall continue.

Furthermore, as President Lemos frankly states, one who skips class is just plain foolish, for he not only loses out on what goes on in class, but what is more pertinent to the student, he loses units in the course. He will be minus one unit at end of the year. Additional cuts may reduce the 3-unit course to a 1-unit job. Then he realizes how serious the matter is.

And it is of great importance that the male of the population keep above the 15-unit mark, for as soon as he falls below it, he becomes susceptible for the draft.

THINKING IT OVER

By KEN VAN CLEAVE

One of the major benefits derived from attending college is the introduction to new and exciting experiences, things that can be realized by attending college and witnessing college life. Aside from the academic life, a student receives another sort of education through his college life, that is, the education on how to get along with people and how to obtain "social sense." In this way students are prepared not only for their curriculum but also for their relationships with other people.

With the introduction of progressive education came the idea of liberal education. Liberal education is a program designed to prepare the student not only for his trade or profession but to develop and broaden his or her interests. This may be done in a number of ways, and one of the major means of doing this is participation in college activities.

Hartnell College is most fortunate to have on its campus the assortment of clubs and organizations that it has. There are groups catering to almost every type of interest and mood. These groups may not be active, however, because of lack of interest on the part of the student. If you happen to have an interest in any special phase of these activities, participate. If there is something that you feel is lacking, inform. This is an institution of learning made up of many individuals with many different interests, and it is up to the student to make his college a big success or a stark failure.

The many activities sponsored by the clubs and organizations of Hartnell have met with little success in this second semester. These Hartnell-sponsored activities have been better participated in by outsiders than by members of the Associated Students of Hartnell College.

The opportunity to participate in all college activities is present, and it is up to the individual student to make use of this opportunity. Remember that college life includes not only your academic activities but also a host of other activities designed to "round out and broaden" the student's view on life. Let's all take advantage of the opportunities offered to us. Let's support our college's activities.

What the Draft Means to You

By J. R. INGRAM
(The First in a Series of Six Articles)

Barring a radical change in the course of international events, virtually every able-bodied young man in the United States today will have to take his turn in military service sooner or later. This year the draft will probably take about half a million young men, including some 19 year olds.

Thousands of others, age 17 and up, will be enlisting, joining reserve organizations, and signing up for various officer programs.

Therefore, to you men in the student body, there is probably no problem in this problem-ridden world closer to you than this one. What shall you do? How can you make plans? What will military service do to you and your future? What can you do to help yourself?

Well, it's like this. The United States has selective service because military leaders have decided that the country must have a certain minimum number of men under arms in order to fulfill its commitments and be able to defend itself in the event of attack.

The armed forces, like everyone else, would prefer to see all this manpower raised through voluntary enlistments. So would you, no doubt, but it cannot be done. They get all they can by that method; the balance they bring in through the draft. At the moment, only the army is taking draftees. But the other services have had to call on selective service in the past and may be doing so again this year. Who knows?

DRAFT HAS PRECEDENT

There is nothing new about the idea of requiring citizens to do military duty in time of emergency. A year before the Continental Congress got around to adopting the Declaration of Independence, it recommended that the colonies form all able-bodied men between 16 and 50 into companies of militia. Ever since then the obligation of a citizen to serve in the nation's defense, if needed, has been an accepted part of American life in principle, if not always in practice. In the Civil War and the two World Wars, the obligation was enforced by a draft.

Today's selective service system first touches you on your eighteenth birthday. Within five days after that date you must register with your local draft board. If away from home at that time, you may register through any local board that's convenient. But be extra careful to give your permanent hometown address, for the address you give will determine which board has jurisdiction over you.

Though you must be 18 and register at 18, you do not become liable for actual military service until you reach 18½. A draft board takes its available men in descending order of age. It does not, for example, induct a 22-year-old until all available and acceptable 23-year-olds have been inducted.

Sometime after registering, usually as you near 18½, you will receive a classification questionnaire in the mail, which you will have to fill out and return to your local board. On the basis of this, plus any supplemental information sent along with it, plus whatever facts the board wants to dig up for itself, you are put into one of 17 categories—topped by 1-A, "availability for military service."

Anyone dissatisfied with his classification can appeal it. Appeals are always made via the local board, and the first step for someone to appeal is to write to his local board WITHIN 10 days after his 1-A classification had been mailed. The letter need not follow any particular form so long as it states that he wishes to appeal the 1-A classification.

EXAMS COME NEXT

If a youngster is found available for service, the next thing is a physical and mental examination by doctors of the armed forces. This probably won't take place until he's nearing 19, or at whatever later time induction looks likely in the relatively near future.

Those that the military's examiners find not qualified for service are reclassified 4-F. Those who are found fit get a written notice to that effect—a notice of acceptability. After that comes greetings from the President—an order to report for induction.

INDUCTION IMMINENT

How soon after he receives word that he's acceptable for service will he be inducted? That's hard to say. It will be at least three weeks before he actually puts on a uniform, though an induction notice may come sooner. But he may wait much longer. Who can tell? Remember this: Once a registrant has his induction notice all the opportunities for voluntary service are closed to him. So, if you are planning some other arrangement—enlisting or officer training—you better get on the ball when you get that notice of acceptability. That's your last warning; in fact, your induction notice, may on occasion, come right along with it.

On the day set in the induction notice, the man reports to his draft board; is sent to an induction station; and begins two years of active duty, probably in the army. When his tour is completed, he'll spend six more years in the reserves. The total obligation, active and reserve duty combined, is eight years and is the same for practically everyone in every service, volunteer or draftee. The amount of that time that must be spent on active duty varies, however, as will be seen. The next installment will cover deferments.

Occupational Division Is Progressing

The occupational division at Hartnell College came into being in 1938, under the guidance of Mrs. Anne Harper, first dean of the division. Since then, there have been various deans, including Mr. Leon Amyx, Mr. Henry Cassidy, Mr. Claude F. Addison, and the present dean of the division, Mr. William Bullis.

Today, this division includes all the semiprofessional courses, which constitute theoretically the basis of all junior college occupations. These courses cover business administration, art and commercial art, drama, and home economics. At Hartnell's extensive A. and M., agriculture, farm management, agriculture mechanics, agriculture engineering, animal husbandry, truck crops, poultry husbandry, construction technology, and electronics are included in the division.

As in other divisions, sixty units are needed for graduation, twenty of which must be in a major field. Then, too, the specified compulsory courses, orientation, history and government, hygiene and safety, and at least six units in English or speech, including business English, must be taken.

With these advantages, the undergraduate, taking any of these courses, may well anticipate the fruition of a successful future.

Hartnell Loses Students To Jobs and Draft

The primary reasons for students leaving college can be attributed to either draft or job lure. Other causes for leaving the campus are personal, transfer, or failure to attend classes.

The opportunity to take jobs which pay well cause students to substitute earning for learning which situation seems to be also connected with the draft problem. The draft itself, closely followed by illness or other personal reasons, contributes toward creating alumni out of students.

President John Lemos explains that, in the event of confusion regarding the connection of draft with studying, men students should Hodge, Darlene Clizbe, Esther Williams, Karol Klauer, Ramona Eris, Babette Gianinni, Ann Young, and Eleanor Evans, heading committees.

New Lawn, New Look

You have heard of the new look in ladies' dresses every time you look around, and now Hartnell will have a new look on the campus in the near future. Subject under discussion is the extension of the campus off the science wing going north toward Central Avenue, to which the statement, "from an old weed patch to a new and beautiful lawn," can soon be applied.

The maintenance crew of Hartnell College has taken on the chore of improving the appearance of this newly developed part of the already beautiful campus. It took three years before Hartnell could get pipe for a sprinkler system, and now the maintenance crew has finally put in a plastic sprinkler system.

The present plans call for putting the lawn in before the spring semester comes to a halt in June.

realize that if they maintain a high grade average they will be exempt from the draft. "This means staying home nights and studying," stated the educator.

During the entire college year of those students who have dropped classes the men outnumber the women, and the main cause is assumed to be the draft or one of its many manifestations. The fact that only men are drafted or are liable to volunteer accounts for the difference.

Election To S.B. Offices Explained

Nominating petitions for student body offices will be available for circulation on Wednesday, April 22. The petitions can be obtained from Mr. Jerry Girdner, Associated Student Body advisor and registrar, in the main office.

In order to qualify for a student body office, a candidate must meet the following four requirements: must pass a total of 10½ units with a "C" average or better; must be a member of good standing of the Associated Students of Hartnell College; must obtain a petition with at least fifty signatures of members in good standing of the Associated Students of Hartnell College requesting that person to run for the listed office; and the petition must be approved by the election committee. Only men students may sign petitions for the office of men's representative and only women students may sign petitions for the office of women's representative.

Petitions will be due on Monday, May 11, at 4:00 p.m. in order to allow time for the election committee to check them in time for the nominating assembly on Wednesday, May 13. The election will be held on Monday, May 18, and Tuesday, May 19. If any run-off election is necessary, it will be held on Thursday, May 21, and Friday, May 22.

Hartnell Defeats Watsonville 8-0

The Watsonville High School baseball team came over to Hartnell on Wednesday, March 18, to play Coach Regli's charges. They returned home disappointed as the Panthers scored eight times to none for the visitors.

Kolstad went the route for Watsonville, allowing nine hits, and Jack Brooks also pitched the entire game for Hartnell but allowed merely two hits. The game was scoreless until the fourth when Hartnell managed to score one man. The Harts pushed across three runs in the home half of the fifth and four more their next time at bat.

The only extra base blow of the contest was a sixth inning home-run by Brooks. Hartnell's box score follows:

Player—Pos.	AB	R	H
Grier, 2b	3	1	1
Moore, 3b	2	1	1
Brooks, p	4	2	1
Dillard, cf	3	0	2

Tumblers At Last Assembly

The primary reason for the assembly on Friday was to hand out basketball awards, but the women of Hartnell also made plans for snagging Hartnell men on Sadie Hawkins' Day, March 20. "Pay heed," was the warning. "Men" be on the lookout, come Friday, for girls coming after you with a long club and handcuffs.

Harts Trek To Soledad And Lose

The Panther horsehiders suffered another setback last Saturday when Soledad Prison blasted Chuck Dillard and Jack Brooks for nine hits, including two homeruns and a double, in a 5-1 game.

Glen Moore scored the lone tally in the fifth inning for the Harts, drawing a walk from the inmate pitcher, who allowed seven bingles.

Dick Herman collected three hits, one for two bases; Morris, Boutte, Tom Klingensmith, Jack Brooks, and Glen Moore picked up the other hits for Hartnell.

Soledad went ahead in the fourth with two homeruns off Dillard; Brooks replaced Dillard in the sixth, holding the prison team to one run and three hits for three innings.

The team meet again tomorrow afternoon on the prison diamond.

Hartnell's box score follows:

Name—Pos.	AB	R	H
Grier, 2b	5	0	0

Softball Is Now Played at Noon

Monday opened the season for intramural softball with the Waa-Waas and the Cor & Cor clashing. The game was exciting as the Waa-Waas were behind with a deficit of 9 runs with time running out and then the Cor & Cor fell apart and the Waa-Waas won, 12-11.

On Tuesday, the 5 Roses + 4 played the Sharpe Eyes. The contest was a thriller and it also was a strange phenomenon as the Sharpe Eyes were ahead nine runs, identical to Monday's game, but then lost to the 5 Roses + 4 by a score of 10-9.

There are six teams entered in the intramural softball league. They are: Waa-Waas, Cor & Cor, 5 Roses + 4, Sharpe Eyes, Marauders, and the Stress & Strain.

The games are scored on a point basis with two points for a win, one point for a tie, and no points for a loss.

The umpires for the games are Scofield, Teresa, Dillard, Alioto, Moore, McWilliams, Avilla, Boutte, and Brooks, while Smith is the scorekeeper for all the softball contests.

San Jose Frosh Beat Hart Nine

San Jose State Frosh horsehiders played Hartnell Panthers Wednesday afternoon, and eked out a 3-2 win.

Brooks pitched the entire game for Hartnell, allowing eight hits, while Gillespy went the whole game for the Frosh and also allowed eight hits.

Hartnell scored their first run in the first inning on two hits and their second run in the sixth on two hits. The Frosh scored their runs in the second, fifth, and sixth innings.

Hartnell Staff, Students Beat Monterey P.C. Twice, Lose Once

Hartnell Pantherettes defeated the Monterey Loboettes, 33-20, Thursday, March 19, at Monterey Peninsula College.

Hartnell had previously defeated Monterey in a game played at Hartnell on Monday night of Hartnell College Week before a crowd of 250 visitors and students.

High scorers for the night's game were Barbara Houston who scored 12 points and Annabeth Bird with 9 points. Officials were Irene Motta and Barbara Johnson.

Monterey Peninsula College faculty will challenge the Hartnell faculty for their fourth game, Tuesday night, April 7, in the Men's Gym. Tilt starts at 7:30.

The Hartnell faculty has been defeated 15-8, 15-9, and 14-7 in their last three encounters with the M.P.C. faculty.

Two mixed student teams will also make the trip Tuesday night to meet Hartnell students for their fourth game. Hartnell defeated M.P.C. 15-9 and 15-11 in their first two games and were defeated 15-5 in the third.

Members of the Hartnell faculty team are Coaches Jess Regli, Ed Adams, and Darwin Peavy; Jerry Girdner, Roger Gammons, and Karl Bengston.

Hartnell A and M History and Facts

Hartnell Agriculture and Mechanics originated in 1946 and 1947 when the guayule rubber project was partially discontinued by the federal government. The property included 180 acres together with several shop buildings which were declared as surplus and put up for bid.

Hartnell was then known as Salinas Junior College and was quite anxious to expand in the line of vocational training. The junior college district applied to Washington for the property for use as a vocational school. In time the district was allocated the property, which included land, buildings, and some equipment for the sum of one dollar. The buildings were then earthquake-proofed and converted into machine, radio, auto, carpentry, welding, and aircraft shops.

The district then rented more land to make a total of over 200 acres. A beef barn, poultry, swine, sheep, and dairy units were then constructed. In 1948, the A. and M. actually began its training.

The students are enrolled in Hartnell College as full-time students and spend usually half of their school day at the A. and M. and the other half at the college.

Inasmuch as there is sufficient room at the school, vocational training is offered to high school students if their high school will pay the tuition.

The A. and M. is now accredited by California State Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo and credit is offered toward a degree while attending Hartnell. The bulk of the students, however, are in the occupational division and do not plan to further their training after completion at Hartnell.

Frosh on top with four, while Hartnell had only two errors.

Hart Cindermen Beat Monterey PC

The Hartnell track team traveled to Monterey Wednesday afternoon for a dual meet with the Lobos of M.P.C. When the firing ended, the Panthers emerged victorious by a decisive count of 90-32.

Coach Dick Voris, for a number of reasons, was extremely pleased with the showing made by his boys. The paramount one was that some of the fellows competed in events in which they never before had entered. Examples of this phenomenon are Charles Cunha and Richard Estrada who finished in a dead heat for first place in the 440, without previous experience therein.

Also, most of the competing men from Hartnell entered in more than one or even two events. Arlin Conner won the 220 and 100 yard dashes, plus the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10 inches. Bob Alioto cast his lot in the three most grueling runs, namely, the 880, mile, and two mile. Irv Verret pole-vaulted 12 feet 4 inches, and won the broad jump, going just under 20 feet.

Voris was especially pleased by the potential ability shown by Bob Larson in the high jump. Taylor Burton walked away with honors in the shotput at 44 feet 4 inches; and heaved the discus 126 feet. Ted Lang followed Burton in the platter throw. Carl Cookson gained points for the Harts by copping the mile run.

Voris mentioned that Hartnell could definitely use a track comparable to the decomposed granite oval at M.P.C. Hartnell's remaining track meets follow.
